

Testimonial – Dr. Sanket Thakur (Batch 2007)

My association with Dr. Vithalrao Vikhe Patil Foundation's Medical College & Hospital, Ahilyanagar remains one of the most defining phases of my medical training. The institution provided me with a strong academic framework and clinical exposure that continue to guide my professional practice today.

The college functions under the visionary leadership of Dean Dr. Sunil Natha Mhaske and Director Dr. Abhijit Diwate, whose dedication towards academic growth, quality healthcare services, and institutional development has helped the institution maintain high standards in medical education.

The lush and naturally developed campus offers a peaceful and motivating environment that supports both intellectual growth and personal development. Such surroundings help create an atmosphere conducive to focused learning and professional discipline.

One of the greatest strengths of the institution is its highly experienced and committed faculty, who play a vital role in nurturing students and guiding them through rigorous academic and clinical training. Their mentorship and encouragement were instrumental in strengthening my clinical reasoning and patient-centered approach.

The hospital benefits from a large and varied patient population, which provides excellent opportunities for hands-on learning and clinical experience across a wide spectrum of medical conditions. This exposure is invaluable in preparing students for real-world clinical responsibilities.

The hospital infrastructure is well organized and equipped with modern facilities, ensuring effective patient care while simultaneously providing a robust platform for medical education and clinical skill development.

Equally noteworthy is the institution's emphasis on maintaining a safe, disciplined, and supportive campus environment, supported by effective administrative systems and security arrangements, which allow students to focus on their academic and professional goals.

Reflecting on my journey, I remain sincerely grateful for the opportunities, mentorship, and experiences I received at this institution. The strong academic foundation and clinical exposure gained here have played an important role in shaping my career in paediatrics.

Dr. Sanket Thakur

Paediatrician

King's College, London

United Kingdom